Sr. Program Manager, Semi-Custom Business Unit

Jan 2013 - Jun 2015 · 2 yrs 6 mos
Austin, Texas Area

- Served as the Lead AMD PM for the PS4 project with Sony. The product was met with wide acceptance at launch in November 2013, pushing Sony into the lead position for global console sales for the first time since 2005. By late-November 2015 Sony reported at least 30 million units were sold world-wide.

- Managed the activity and budget of all teams with executive management e.g., design teams, product development teams, validation, and platform engineering.

- Owned weekly executive management customer meeting including tracking of all major tasks and initiatives.

Sr. Program Manager, Customer Support Services

Aug 2008 - Dec 2012 · 4 yrs 5 mos

- Member of CSS Staff. Drive strategic business initiatives to ensure development of people and process.
- Currently working with a global team to adopt a new system of tracking customer development across multiple regions. The tool has the potential to deliver significant efficiency improvements and enable efficient, extensive collaboration between Asia and North America based teams.
- My role is to bring together the interests all groups as required for a successful roll-out and adoption. In this capacity I meet regularly with the multiple Asia based teams for assistance and agreement on tool definition. Another portion of the assignment is to train the management and end user teams on how to utilize the tool's benefits and deliver the data requirements.

Client TPM Manager in Customer Support Services

Feb 2006 - Aug 2008 · 2 yrs 7 mos

- Managed a North America based team that supports top tier desktop and mobile customers as they brought designs to market. The team of Technical Project Managers (TPMs) worked with numerous engineering functions to ensure the best support services from AMD. Assisted global TPM organizations with consistent process through on-site training and regular interactions.
- Drove critical lines-down issues to closure with global coordination efforts as well as customer and management interfacing. Heavily involved during initial volume product ramps of top tier customers, and when needed, resolved issues through the coordination of regional TPM and engineering resources.
- Delivered customer feedback for areas of improvement as products were developed. Work with the regional offices to ensure consistency in process through on-site training and meetings. Escalation path for regional customer issues.
